NEWSPAPER OF THE SAINT JOSEPH'S COLLEGE COMMUNITY

Vol. 45

Rensselaer, Indiana, Thursday, August 27, 1981

No. 1

'Community' Emphasized

"I would be very happy if, at the end of my tenure here, I could develop student affairs at Saint Joseph's College to the same high quality as is already present here in the academic life of this campus."

Speaking is William Maniscalco, who was named SJC's vice-president for student affairs July 1. He's now starting his first academic year in this challenging job, and he readily offers his ideas for improving the quality of student life on the Collegeville campus.

"First of all, I have selected the theme of 'community' for the thrust of the student affairs office during the 1981-82 academic year," he begins. "As a relatively small school, we should be able to develop and maintain a strong sense of community here — a community where each person cares about one another."

He explains that students live with others who depend on each other for affirmation, respect and support; members of the community must realize that they are part of something bigger than themselves, and they must take active roles in becoming a part of this community.

"A major principle in a healthy community is that you don't infringe upon the rights of others, and that is a reason why, for example, that I have suggested rather strongly that all stereos be used with headsets, thus reducing the environmental impact of noise," Maniscalco reasons. "Excessive noise has been a complaint of many students here during the last year — it destroys the proper atmosphere for study in the dormitory and is a sign of disrespect toward the rights of others."

In addition to establishing a strong sense of community, he says he would next most like to help students gain a realization of self-identity.

"The biggest challenge a student may face in his four years is resisting the peer pressure to do something he really doesn't believe in," he reports. "When you are educated, you should be able to stand for what you believe despite pressures to the contrary. If you cannot come to a realization of who you are and know your own values, you won't be happy."

Maniscalco says he hopes to impart to student campus life an organized thrust similar to that evident in the school's academic life. It is important, he adds, that academic life be tied to social, cultural, religious and athletic involvements in giving students a thorough four-year learning experience.

"Saint Joseph's is a people-oriented community; we need each other and I believe we have here a natural community within which we can also come to a realization of our self-identity," he comments. "Here you get to know yourself and those people around you in depth and in a quality way."

tion on the ground floor of Merlini Hall, and Merlini will now regain its status as an all-student dormitory.

College workmen here have completed their most active summer of campus improvements in recent years, with student dormitories receiving a bulk of the attention.

General campus improvements include: painting and relettering of the water tower; installation of remote and central condensate pumps in the powerhouse; replacement of several valves, expansion joints and feet of buried pipe; and extensive painting, lock repairs and screen repairs have been made.

16 New Appointees Join SJC For 1981-82 Year

Saint Joseph's officials have announced a series of administrative, faculty and staff appointments in preparation for the 1981-82 academic year. They include:

Ted Broscoe as director of the computer center. He comes here from Middletown, Conn., where he was a manager of business analysis systems with Xerox Education Publications.

Stephen Feldhaus as an instructor in accounting. During 1972-78, he was an advisory officer in the finance ministry of the government of Western Samoa.

Brother Edward Habrowski as instructor in education and assistant registrar. He received a bachelor's degree from Saint Joseph's in 1971 and a master's degree in education from St. Francis College in 1975.

Mickey Haslett as a director of campus life. During the past two years, he served at Southern Illinois University-Carbondale as an assistant in the office of student development.

William Hogan as an assistant professor of business administration. A 1974 graduate of Saint Joseph's, he was an assistant professor of business administration at Bowling Green (Ohio) State University in 1980-81.

Dubravko Kakarigi as an instructor in computer science. He comes here from Purdue University, where he received a master's degree in management.

Pravin Kamdar as an assistant professor of business administration. He comes here from Bombay, India where he was a research administrator for Jinu International.

Vicki Kosowsky as assistant vice-president for student affairs in charge of residential living. She comes here from Saint Francis College of Loretto, Pa., where she was director of campus life.

Charles Luke as vice-president for development. He has been director of alumni and development the past two years at Kent (Ohio) State University and owns 17 years of experience in college-university alumni affairs and fund raising.

William Maniscalco as vice-president for student affairs. He comes to Saint Joseph's from Saint Francis College where he has been vice-president for student affairs.

Brother James Mignerey as an instructor in communications and theatre arts. He received a bachelor's degree from Saint Joseph's in 1974.

Ron Pollock as director of buildings and grounds. He joins Saint Joseph's from Daverman Associates of Grand Rapids, Mich., where he worked as an energy auditor.

John Pullin as head baseball coach. He succeeded George Waggoner as the Pumas' diamond leader May 18, while Waggoner continues as the head basketball coach. Pullin had been SJC's assistant baseball coach for four years.

Frank Slaby as an assistant professor of business administration. He has been an assistant professor of administrative science in Valparaiso University's College of Business Administration since 1978.

Mary Margaret Smith as an instructor in political science. She has been assistant registrar since 1978 at Saint Louis University.

Vincent Stilger as head athletic trainer. He received a master of science degree in health and safety education from Indiana State University earlier this month.

It won't take students returning to Saint Joseph's College here this year long to notice one of the major changes in campus facilities — the health center has been moved from its long-time location in Dwenger Hall to a newer, larger area on the ground floor of Schwieterman Hall.

"We have much nicer, newer facilities here, and although we had sort of 'grown into' our old location in Dwenger Hall, we are very enthusiastic about our new location," says Marie Schultz, L.P.N.

"College workmen did a fantastic job of remodeling this ground floor of Schwieterman Hall for us," adds Dixie Green, R.N. "We now have three examining rooms, one large waiting room, a medicine room, a record room, an office and reception area. It also is air-conditioned here, which will be helpful in warm weather." In its new location, the health center also gained more spacious examining rooms and improved lighting.

As was the case during the 1980-81 academic year, health center hours run from 7:30 a.m. to 7:30 p.m. Students seeking medical advice or assistance during other hours are to phone or present themselves at the Jasper County Hospital emergency room in Rensselaer.

A physician is available at the health center each noon, Monday through Friday, and the health center staff can provide first aid or dispense cold medications during other hours. Green and Schultz are joined on the health center staff by Betty Stoller, R.N., and nurse's aid Marlene Tiede.

Faculty offices have been moved to Dwenger Hall from their former loca-

Job Well Done

Saint Joseph's is very fortunate to have talented and dedicated people who have contributed greatly in enriching the institution and giving students an appreciation of the college that everyone can be proud of.

One of many college servants is Alfred Hentschel, who has given 29 years of service in the carpenter shop and as superintendent of buildings and grounds.

In his first job for the college, Hentschel erected the 14 stations of the cross in the campus grotto. These stations trace the steps of Jesus on His way to His crucifixion and were a major feature of the grotto until time and weather took a heavy toll on them.

Now in his last job for the college, Hentschel has reconstructed the weather-worn stations by carefully repainting them and mounting the stone pictures on wooden crosses.

"This project means a great deal to me, not only because it's almost identical to my very first job here, but because the Bavarian-style crosses remind me of my native Germany," Hentschel says.

The grotto has always been an attractive feature of the college campus and the new stations enhance that beauty. Best of luck to Alfred Hentschel in his retirement and a large thank you for your many contributions to the college.

Decade Of Progress

Laboratory Conquers Fear Of Math

President Franklin Roosevelt is well-remembered for his quotation, "we have nothing to fear but fear itself."

Fear — of mathematics in particular — also was on the mind of Father Philip Gilbert, associate professor of mathematics here at Saint Joseph's College, when he established a mathematics laboratory which in the past decade has brought the joy of working with math to a broad cross-section of college, high school and elementary school students.

"I had this observation in previous years that many college students who were not mathematics majors were either afraid of math or had a distaste for it," explains Father Gilbert. "I figured this fear or distaste might come from the way they were originally taught math, and I stress that there is nothing to be afraid of, because math is a human thing."

He subsequently attended a meeting in Chicago on math labs and came away deeply impressed with how the use of external manifestations of math concepts could be used to benefit students of all ages. Consequently, he launched Saint Joseph's math lab in 1971, and its academic benefits since then have been both impressive and significant.

"The original goal, or purpose, of Saint Joseph's math lab was for the use of elementary education majors in the elementary education program. Our program — the math lab approach — fit in perfectly with the individualized instruction in the elementary grades," says Father Gilbert.

Space for the math lab was provided in the old Administration Building with an office, a work room, an extensive library, and an area where children could come for individualized instruction in math concept activities under the guidance of elementary education majors. A large hall adjacent to the other rooms provided space for demonstrations.

Father Philip Gilbert displays some of the fancy works of string sculpture that can be found in the math lab on the third floor of Xavier Hall. The lab has played a vital role in Saint Joseph's educational efforts during the past decade.

"The Administration Building fire in 1973 destroyed everything, but two days later we were back in business on the third floor of Xavier Hall," comments Father Gilbert. "The math lab provides an example or model of an environment that an elementary classroom could be for the benefit of our elementary education majors."

The laboratory is a spacious, colorful area where materials can be kept and used in a friendly environment. There are tables, rugs, open spaces and even desk chairs for those who want to use them. The children with their elementary education major instructors are free to work on the floor, tables, or desks. The lab was a genuine opportunity for Saint Joe students to work with children from the primary grades of an average classroom.

"Since our elementary education program here is a very dynamic one, we have had to change the role of the math lab in the past few years. The students now have extensive practicum experience in the elementary schools as part of their regular curriculum. And so the math lab has expanded to become as well a language arts lab with reading, speaking, telling stories to one another, and doing little skits," states Father Gilbert.

On the high school level, the math lab has in the past hosted five annual math contests where Saint Joe mathematics majors assist as judges, referees, hosts and hostesses. Eight high schools were accepted each year; the contest consisted of a written test followed by a strategy game tourney. Each of the high schools had five students on its team. Due to scheduling difficulties, however, the math contest has not been held the past two years.

When Saint Joseph's obtained the Hewlett-Packard Central Processing Unit with 15 computer terminals, Father Gilbert put several programs onto the computer for the elementary children.

"Elementary education students originally brought children to the math lab six times each semester, but with computer-assisted instruction (CAI) available, we began gradually to use the learning center of the computer center. It was an experience for the elementary education students and the primary grade students that could not be duplicated in their classroom or the math lab," adds Father Gilbert.

"The math lab itself is used minimally by the mathematics major students, but I require of my students a written paper each year, and they use the math lab library. It is now more of a showplace, and an area of display of material — the curricula and books, and supplies of materials for projects or activities for our practicum teachers in our local schools. We do have a vast storage area and have sufficient materials for our students to use," concludes Father Gilbert.

RA's Announced

Twenty-four Saint Joseph's College students have been named resident assistants for the campus during the 1981-82 school year, it has been announced by the office of student affairs.

Also, Mike Meyer (senior, Jasper, Ind.), Brian Nahas (junior, Indianapolis, Ind.),

Also, Charles Smith (senior, Raub, Ind.), Mark Stacy (junior, Bensenville, Ill.), Kathy Tonkovich (junior, Hammond, Ind.), Peg Versgrove (senior, Cary, Ill.), Lori Walsh (senior, Woodridge, Ill.), and Ernie Watson (senior, Hammond).

Saint Joseph's resident assistants are responsible for enforcing college rules plus carrying out a wide range of associated duties, such as counseling fellow students in items ranging from the academic to the non-academic. During the 1981-82 school year, they will play a vital role in bringing into reality the theme of "community" which has been stressed as a central goal for campus life.

Seven Varsity Teams Compete In Smorgasbord Of Fall Sports

If an idle mind is a devil's workshop, then Satan best keep well distant from Saint Joseph's athletic scene this fall, for Pumas of all sorts are about to embark on the busiest fall sports schedule in this school's 90-year history.

Seven varsity teams will dot the campus this autumn, and that's the heaviest slate ever seen around these parts. A varied athletic menu promises to gorge even the most insatiable fan, headlined by football and volleyball, with men's cross country, golf, women's tennis and soccer returning to the scene.

New to the schedule is women's cross country, now making its varsity debut, just as soccer did here one year ago.

Twenty-eight lettermen are the keys in a talented football program that welcomed more than 130 candidates for the start of pre-season drills Aug. 17. Monogram winners are present at every offensive and defensive position, but they're joined by 31 non-letter reserves from a year ago plus approximately 75 newcomers who represent what offensive coordinator Fred Mariani terms one of the most productive recruiting seasons ever at Collegetown.

Primary among the Pumas' goals will be attainment of the Heartland Collegiate Conference championship following last year's third-place finish and a 6-4 overall season record.

A balanced show of strength offensively and defensively promises to make life tough on the Pumas' nine foes, starting Sept. 12 with the visit of 1980 HCC co-titlist Franklin to the SJC gridiron. A more balanced pass-and-run attack could blossom this season with lettermen running backs Kyle Myers, Keith Jones and Tim Callahan (they combined for 585 net yards last fall) all returning, along with quarterback Mike Houston, who owns 444 completions, good for 5303 yards and 47 touchdowns in his first three seasons here.

Standout runner / receiver Dave Bormann has switched to flanker and is joined by letterman tight end Ernest Watson in helping to bolster the graduation-depleted receiving corps. The whole offensive machine moves nicely behind a veteran blocking interior led by Bob Bultman, Scott Seidelmann, Gerry Potacki and Mike Aeevermann.

Veterans also anchor the defense, starting with a rush line of ends Terry Robichaud and Dan Schluge, tackles

John Misiora and Jerry Such and middleguard Mark Malott. Lettermen Ron Leffler and Jeff Shake are set at linebackers while proven performers like Brad DeWees, Scot Grove, Mark Stacy and Jeff May headline the secondary.

Coach Linda Taulman is optimistic that her volleyball squad can again keep SJC fans smiling on the heels of a 1980 squad that was 42-10 and placed third in the state tourney. Her first three teams here have a cumulative 131-26 record; that's moving in high-quality company, but don't bet the Pumas can't keep it up.

Letter winners Pam Bell, Linda Deno, Mary Jean Ducey, Ronda Hillenburg, Jane Lemanski, Michele Quaife, Penny Salm and Renee Vermejan all return, and newcomers like Sharon Rosenow and Lori Salm indicate that success will continue to breed success in Alumni Fieldhouse.

Newcomers can be expected to play critical roles in the Pumas' remaining fall sports. Cross country coach Dave Smith returns several runners in the men's program but emphasizes the importance of new talent to complete the squad, and he's very optimistic about the raw talent already present on the women's team.

Veterans like Barb Salkeld and Christy Allen indicate the women's tennis team can go for still more improvement after last year's 6-5 finish, and coach Father William Stang believes experience and organization will help improve on last fall's 2-10 soccer mark. Talented freshmen will have an ideal opportunity to contribute on coach Dick Scharf's golf squad, which graduated several key performers in May.

Pullin Rebuilding SJC Baseball Program

There is good and bad in most athletic seasons, and despite the fact that Saint Joseph's 1981 baseball Pumas finished 10-22, coach George Waggoner points out that there is plenty of good to mix with the bad.

"The experiences our young people gained, especially the pitchers, was the most valuable part of the season," he explains. "We now have a young, but experienced group of players who should form a solid nucleus for the years ahead."

That's good news indeed for John Pullin, who earlier this summer stepped up to the Pumas' head baseball job from the assistant coaching post he held during the past four years.

Saint Joe got off to a rocky 1-11 start before the maturing team played its best ball of the season in the final two weeks. A pitching staff composed almost entirely of freshmen took its lumps in March and early April, but the experience paid off in steadily-improving performances.

Pullin admits that it may take two or three years to rebuild the SJC baseball program, "but we have already utilized many of our freshmen and sophomores this year and we believe we have brought in some quality freshmen pitchers for next season. We need a combination of talent and experience, and we have taken some long steps in that direction already."

In addition to the return of their top pitchers from last season, the Pumas have the infield intact plus six veteran outfielders. Good speed and strong arms typify the SJC defense, and Pullin is counting on that valuable commodity — experience — to help the defenders improve their showing over last spring.

A 10-22 record can have either a good or bad impact on a team's outlook for the following year, but Pullin is confident the effect will be positive. "These are tough and dedicated players, and they're not going to adopt some type of defeatist attitude just because we lost more games than we would have liked to. The kids knew they were making mistakes, but learned from them. Last year at the season-ending banquet, the underclassmen made it clear they would be back filled with the spirit and drive it takes to succeed."

Pullin concludes that, "baseball is a fun game and you have to install that attitude in our young men if you are going to get anywhere. It is a great game to play as well as a great game to watch, and we plan on making the Pumas a team that will be fun to cheer for."

Boston Celtics' basketball star Larry Bird visited Alumni Fieldhouse June 18 as a featured speaker for the B/C All-Star basketball camp, which brought 250 standout high school cagers to SJC for a week of intense practices and scrimmages under the watchful eyes of the camp staff plus a bevy of recruiting-minded college coaches. Social Preview

Rensselaer and Saint Joseph's College may be located in a rural setting, but the number of activities for students on this campus belie the traditional image that such tranquil areas are always quiet to the point of boredom.

Returning students here can readily inform newcomers that there is little excuse not to become involved in campus activities; there's literally something for everyone, and you have only yourself to blame if you feel isolated.

Welcome back to all of you, and here's the activities menu from now through Sept. 10.

Friday, Aug. 28. Senior welcome back social, south chapel, 9 p.m.

Saturday, Aug. 29. Women's tennis, Indiana State-Evansville, here, 11 a.m. Senior class car wash, A & P parking lot, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Halas welcome back social, outside Halas, 4 p.m. Bennett Hills welcome back social, Bennett Hall lounge, 8 p.m.

Monday, Aug. 31. Psychology Club officer meeting, psychology lab, 6 p.m. Student Association executive board meeting, Halleck 303, 7 p.m.

Tuesday, Sept. 1. L.I.F.E. Club meeting, Halleck Center conference room 204, 6 p.m. Psychology Club welcome back social, psychology lab, 6:30 p.m.

Thursday, Sept. 3. Accounting-Finance Club membership meeting, Halleck cafeteria, 8 p.m. Freshmen welcome square dance, Halleck ballroom, 8 p.m.

Friday, Sept. 4. Black Student Union meeting, Halleck ballroom, 7 p.m.

Saturday, Sept. 5. Women's tennis here vs. IUPU-Fort Wayne, 11 a.m. Women's cross country at Indiana State. Soccer at Loyola. Men's cross country at Indiana State-Evansville. Justin welcome back social, Lake Banet, 4:30 p.m.

Monday, Sept. 7. Labor Day, no classes. Gallagher Hall softball marathon starts outside that dorm at 8 a.m. Afternoon pig roast at Lake Banet.

Tuesday, Sept. 8. Student Senate elections. Biology Club meeting, Halleck 204, 6 p.m. History-Political Science Club meeting, Halleck 202, 6 p.m. Pre-Law Club meeting, Halleck 202, 6:30 p.m.

Wednesday, Sept. 9. Freshmen dinner, Halleck ballroom, 6 p.m. Men's cross country at Butler. Senior Advisory Council meeting, Halleck 202, 6 p.m. Junior Advisory Council meeting, Halleck 204, 6 p.m.

Attending movies has become a weekend social highlight at Collegeville, and another attractive schedule of films for 1981-82 has been announced by Martin Maher, chairman of the movie committee.

A bit of everything is included in the movie calendar — from "Nine to Five" and "Little Darlings" to "Murder on the Orient Express" and "Jesus Christ Superstar" — there is a broad range of visual entertainment. Maher reminds students to watch the bulletins each Wednesday that will advertise the exact times and dates of all films.

Buckley Ruling Explains Privacy Rights

Information Concerning Student Rights Under Paragraph 99.6 of the General Education Provisions Act, Title IV of Pub. L. 90-247

- Students have the right to inspect and review their education records. Procedures for this inspection are given in statements that follow.
- Education records are kept in the following locations. The officer to contact in each case is listed:
 - Grades, graduation information, probation notices and the like.
Registrar
Saint Joseph's College
These records are also shared by:
Vice President for Academic Affairs
Saint Joseph's College
 - Financial aid applications, information on grants or other aid.
Director of Financial Aids
Saint Joseph's College
 - Ability tests, scholastic performance records used for counseling and guidance purposes.
Director of Guidance
Saint Joseph's College
 - Placement files and references.
Director of Placement
Saint Joseph's College
 - Records of a disciplinary or student resident nature.
Dean of Student Services
Saint Joseph's College
- Any request by a student to challenge the content or accuracy of any education records is to be directed in writing to the appropriate officer in the cases of a and b. above, the officer will arrange to have the challenge heard by the Academic Cabinet. In the case of c., d and e. above, the hearing body will be the Student Life Committee.
- Procedures in the various offices:
 - Office of the Registrar
 - Inspection and Review of Education Records
 - The student may inspect all records in the Registrar's Office pertaining to himself, or herself. The following procedures will be followed

- The student may inspect the record only in the presence of those having custody of the records.
- No records may be moved, reproduced, or changed without permission of the custodian of the records.
- If a student wishes to challenge the content of the records or their accuracy, he or she may request a hearing before the Academic Cabinet or a sub-committee authorized by the Cabinet for this purpose.
- The folder in the files are available for inspection by the Guidance Office without student permission. Other members of the staff and faculty who have a legitimate reason for inspecting the folders must make the request in writing, stating their reason for the request. This written request will be kept in the student's folder.
- Release of Records
 - Student records in the Registrar's Office are under the joint custody of the Vice President for Academic Affairs and the Registrar. The records, therefore, are available to them and to their staffs without student permission.
 - Copies of student grades and test scores may be released to the Guidance Office, to the Financial Aid Office for purpose of establishing eligibility for financial aid, and to those faculty members who have a legitimate reason for the information, and to parents of dependent students.
 - Student records may not be released to any person or agency outside of the College without the student's written permission, with the following exceptions:
 - The student may in a given case waive his right to restrict release of his record to written permission, and thus release it orally.
 - Records may be released without the student's permission by court order, under subpoena, or under conditions set forth in HEW regulation 99.35 to authorized representatives.

- Financial Aid Office
 - Dependent students may not inspect or request copies of the Parents Confidential Statement without the consent of the parent or guardian who provided the Statement.
 - Independent or self-supporting students have the right to inspect their own financial aid records. The following procedures will be followed:
 - The student may inspect the record only in the presence of those having custody of the records.
 - No records may be removed, reproduced, or changed without permission of the custodian of the records.
 - If a student wishes to challenge the content of the records or their accuracy, he or she may request a hearing before the Academic Cabinet or a sub-committee authorized by the Cabinet for this purpose.
 - In all other respects financial aid information is confidential and is available only to the Director of Student Financial Aid and his staff. It may not be released from the office or used in any personally identifiable way except for purposes of financial aid without the written consent, explicit or implied, of the parents or guardians in the case of dependent students, or without their consent in the case of independent students, or without their own consent in the case of independent or self-supporting students.
- Office of Guidance
 - Release of Information
 - The files that are related to students' academic situations (admissions forms, SAT scores, grades, predictive indices, etc.) are available (except personality tests) to any faculty member or administrator who has a legitimate interest in the student's academic progress; the student is notified when this information is being utilized by a faculty member.
 - Information in the student's file will be provided to individuals (other - than faculty members or administrators) and agencies only with the written permission of the student involved or a court order.

- Right of Inspection
 - Every student has a right to see his or her record with the Guidance Counselor present and available to interpret test results.
- Office of Placement

The student prepares the file maintained in the Placement Office. The only other documents prepared by someone else are educational and character references.

 - Right of Inspection
 - Student files may not be released to any person or agency without the student's written permission, with the following exceptions:
 - The student may in a given case waive the right to restrict release of his or her file to written permission, and thus release it orally.
 - The student may in writing generally release the file to any prospective employer interested in his or her employment.
 - Record is maintained of each authorized release of information.
 - Release of Information
 - The student may inspect his or her file at any time with a member of the Placement staff present.
 - The student file is under the custody of the Placement Office, and therefore is available to the Placement staff.
- Office of the Dean of Student Services

Information will not be disclosed from a student's file without the student's prior consent except to those authorized by Section 99.31 of the Act. When information is disclosed, a record of the information and to whom it is disclosed will be made in the student's file. Students or the parent(s) of dependent students shall be permitted to inspect and review their records and have the right to explanations and interpretations. Students also have the right to request that their files be amended through judicial process.
